Saginaw, MI. (September 25, 2009) – SpeedNet, LLC, a leading broadband provider in Michigan, announces today an unprecedented pricing offer. SpeedNet is guaranteeing they will never raise their rates after consumers subscribe to any of their services. An innovative telecommunications company, SpeedNet provides high-speed broadband and telephone services through the State of Michigan including; Alpena, Standish, Pinconning, Midland, Bay City, Saginaw, Hemlock, Clio, Birch Run, Mount Pleasant, Caro, Vassar, Bad Axe and most of the entire Thumb area.

“In today’s uncertain economic times, we are very proud to offer pricing certainty to our existing loyal customers and those broadband subscribers who are tired of annual rate increases by our competitors,” said Bruce Moore, SpeedNet’s Vice President and General Manager for the State of Michigan.

“Marketing meetings in cable television industry are very short because they only discuss how much the rate increase is going to be each year. SpeedNet is committed to offering great broadband service at a price that will not change,” Moore added. SpeedNet’s residential rate is $34.95/month.

SpeedNet opened in Alpena, MI in 2001 and moved its corporate headquarters to Saginaw Township in early 2004. “My partner, Robert Liggett, and I are very proud to have our company based in Saginaw. Our operations and customer contact team members all live and work in the communities where our services are offer,” said John Ogren, SpeedNet’s President and CEO. “The pricing guarantee is our way of offering a greater value to our customers and hopefully attracts those broadband customers who are looking for a better broadband alternative,” said Ogren.

SpeedNet’s residential telephone service is priced at $29.95/month and includes unlimited local and long distance calling. In most cases, customers are able to retain their existing telephone number.
